MASS OF THE HOLY GHOST — Celebrant

Most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, D.D., '17

Witnesses

... "The Holy Ghost shall descend upon you and you shall receive power" was not a death sentence; it was the word of life, the marching orders of the soldier in the army of Christ.

In every age when the Church has advanced, its members have been witnesses: the laity whose lives are uniformly and consistently Christlike are witnesses, — in the 20th century, even as in the first.

Within the next decades will be decided for generations whether civilization as we know it is to be completely destroyed or completely changed. It is our fate—to live upon that turning point of history. The productive years of all you young people who sit here today will be of those decades, and your children and your children's children either will live in a world where they can worship God and be possessed of freedom, or they will live in a world that denies God and knows not the Holy Spirit.

... To fit yourself to take your place in your community as serious minded, well balanced, educated youth is your task of the present. As Catholics, you can be socially effective only if your minds and wills are formed by the teachings of the Church. You can go through college without learning very much—it has been done before and I am sure it will be done again. You can go through a Catholic college (and come from a Catholic home), without becoming a witness for Christ. It has been done before and I am sure it will be done again. But you cannot be filled with sanctifying grace, you cannot live in the knowledge and presence of the Holy Spirit without being a witness for Christ. Of that He Himself assured us in the words I have quoted for you today: You shall receive power when the Holy Spirit comes upon you, and you shall be witnesses for me . . . even to the ends of the earth . . .

REV. JOSEPH R. N. MAXWELL, S. J.

As Boston College enters upon her ninety-first year we look back with satisfaction and pride over the growth and development of our school throughout those years. When Father John Baptist, our first president, with the assistance of Father Robert Fulton, opened the college, he welcomed as his first class a group of twenty-two students. It was a very modest, perhaps a very discouraging beginning. But it was a beginning that was destined to surge forward into results that even the optimism of Father Baptist could hardly imagine. The little college of twenty-two students has grown into a university comprising eight schools with several thousands of students. The guidance of our twenty past presidents and the devoted labor of our faculty for ninety years has nurtured the material, intellectual and spiritual growth of Boston College. They have worked generously and well, and the fruit of their labors is a most gratifying measure of their zeal and their foresight. The greatest monument that can be dedicated to their memories is a body of living alumni of some 17,000 stalwart men who, in all walks of life, are a credit to the ideals and traditions that have brought distinction to them and their Alma Mater. Among these 17,000 we point with pride to 1208 priests of whom 802 are diocesan clergy.

Though numbers do not guarantee greatness for an educational institution, they are nonetheless an indication of the respect and esteem that is entertained for a school among its constituents. They are also an indication of the spread of a school's reputation, and to this our alumni have contributed by the examples of their good lives, and their filial interest in their school.

STUDENT ENROLLMENT

Boston College continues to attract the youth of the nation, and even some from different lands, as our registration figures will show.

The total of 7400 tells its own story of the reputation which your college has established and maintained for almost a century of years. Here are some parts of the story of interest to the Alumni. Of these 2486 are women, 579 are veterans and of these later 236 are Korean Veterans' and among our 1343 Freshmen beginning their collegiate education at Boston College this year are more than fifty sons and daughters of our alumni. The number of close relatives of alumni is a large one, and I regret that I do not have an accurate account of these students at the moment.

Though our campus boarding facilities are limited, they represent the simple beginnings of our aspirations and plans for the future. One hundred and forty boarding students have come to us from eleven states, reaching from Maine to California, and fourteen of these boys are natives of seven foreign countries.

FACULTY MEMBERS

Of primary importance in any school or college is the faculty. It is a pleasure to report that the faculty at Boston College continues to grow in scholarship and professional proficiency. They are dedicated teachers, sincerely devoted to the youth entrusted to them, generous always in their efforts to assist them in their intellectual and moral development to the greater glory of God. In addition to teaching and counselling, many of our faculty members are engaged in writing and research in the fields of their special interest.

The following new members have been added to the faculties of the several schools this year:

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES AND GRADUATE SCHOOL
 Rev. Stanislaus Bezuska, S.J., Ph.D., Chairman, Department of Mathematics
 Mr. Richard P. Boudreau, Ph.D., Department of Modern Languages

Miss Catherine Weaver, Ph.D., Department of English

LAW SCHOOL

Mr. William Curran, LL.M., Department of Law

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

Mr. Frederick Ferris, M.S.S.W., Department of Community Organization

Mr. James Dunn, '43, C.B.A., has returned from service in the Army, and Mr. Donald White, '44, from the Wage Stabilization Board, to resume their duties in the College of Business Administration. Mr. Joseph Maguire, long a member of the Classics Department, has held a Guggenheim Fellowship during the past year. It is a pleasure to number him again among our active faculty members.

In an effort to meet the rising living costs in a manner commensurate with the resources of the college, the following salary schedule for members of the lay faculty in the College of Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, and Education, became effective in September of this year. These salaries are based on a ten-month year and may be compared with the faculty salary scale of 1947.

	1953 Minimum	Yearly Increment	1953 Maximum	1947 Maximum
Instructors	$3000	$200	$4000	$2800
Asst. Professors	$4000	$200	$4800	$3500
Assoc. Professors	$4800	$200	$5400	$4500
Professors	$5000	$200	$6400	$6000

To each member of the faculty in the rank of instructor or assistant professor, an increment of $400 was granted for this year. Those in the two higher ranks received the usual increase of $200. The annual increment for all grades is now $200, and will be granted to all who are recommended for this increment each year by the University Committee on Appointments and Promotions. The increments granted this year total $37,400.00.

According to a report of the Office of Education, which was cited in the New York Times, February 5, 1953, the median salaries of college faculties in 51 land grant colleges, estimated on a ten months basis, was $5971 for Professors, $4895 for Associate Professors, $4218 for Assistant Professors and $3482 for Instructors.

The salaries for our lay faculty and administrators for the present year total $825,646.00, and the payroll for academic offices will be $184,000.00.

In addition to salary, the College contributes to the Federal Social Security Program for each faculty member. In addition, all who have been at the college for three years are enrolled in the program of the Teachers' Insurance Annuity Association, which provides for retirement pensions and insurance. The annual cost to the College for these programs is over $86,000.00 in addition to our payroll.

Our University faculty totals 377 members at the present time. This total includes 110 Jesuits, 55 Graduate Assistants, and 31 Administrators.

A word or two for each one of the schools which make up our university may serve to acquaint our alumni with the activities and the spirit of these organizations.

FACULTY OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

The College of Arts and Sciences, which is the oldest of our schools, has an able faculty who hold degrees from fifty-seven different colleges and universities. These men are active in fifteen departments, which cover all of the major fields of study in the liberal arts college. More than two hundred and fifty courses are offered this year to the sixteen hundred young men who form the undergraduate body of this school. Obligatory courses in literature, philosophy, theology, history and science make all our students acquainted with the tradition and treasure of western culture. In addition to these required courses, a field of concentration is chosen by each student, and in this major field of study, he receives special training. In this age of specialization, it is recognized that in most branches of intellectual endeavor, work on the graduate school level must be added to undergraduate studies as a requisite for intellectual leadership. The College of Arts and Sciences today, as throughout its ninety-year history, is dedicated to the task of forming liberally educated men, complete men, true citizens of two worlds.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

The program of doctoral studies which was inaugurated while Reverend James L. Burke, S.J., was dean of the Graduate school, will be continued under his able successor, Reverend Paul A. FitzGerald, S.J. Forty-three applicants for this advanced degree have been accepted in the three departments of Education, Economics, History and Government. Thirteen of these began their courses during the summer session and twenty-three will enroll this fall.

The fall enrollment in the fourteen departments of the Graduate School is 626.

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

The College of Business Administration, which has begun its sixteenth year, has an enrollment of 1097 students. Since its foundation, in 1938, and the graduation of its first class in 1942, this school has conferred 1730 degrees.

Boston College points with justifiable pride to the high regard in which the school of Business Administration is held. A measure of this regard is the number of industrial recruiting officers who visit our placement bureau to interview our seniors.

The technical business curriculum is so arranged that a student, during his freshman and sophomore years, has courses in Accounting, Finance, Management and Marketing. In his junior year, he chooses his field of concentration from one of the four departments. In order that all of our students of business administration may learn a way of living, individually and as members of society, courses in literature, history, philosophy and theology hold a prominent place in all curricula.

Alumni who have not yet had an opportunity to visit Fulton Hall, the home of C.B.A., would be particularly interested in visiting the James Burns Memorial Library. It contains approximately 10,000 volumes on business subjects as well as all the major business journals, selected business surveys, and an excellent selection of periodicals in the fields of trade and economics. Standard works in all phases of business activity are available for both reference and circulation. Annual reports, prospectuses and letters to stock holders from some 5000 corporations are kept in the Corporation Room for student reference work.

Fr. W. Seavey Joyce, S.J., Dean of the College of Business Administration, will soon contact our alumni in connection with the celebration of fifteen completed years.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

The School of Education begins its second year with 130 freshman students and seven new faculty members. The academic background of the new teachers is quite varied, including preparation at Oxford, Cambridge, Chicago, Michigan, Iowa, Indiana, William and Mary—not to mention Boston College.

It hasn't taken the School of Education long to attract attention in the athletic world. Miss Patricia Sullivan of Belmont, a Sophomore, recently won the junior women's tennis crowns of Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

The School of Education is planning a second educational conference, a sort of home-coming day, for B.C. men and women who are in the field of education. It will be held on Saturday, November 21st from 10:00 until noon, and it is in the Baptist Library Auditorium. We hope that this conference will be an annual event for Boston College graduates in the teaching profession.

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

From the School of Social Work, Dr. Dorothy L. Book, Dean, reports that Dr. Edward O'Rourke, Instructor at the Harvard School of Public Health, and Health Commissioner of the City of Cambridge, has been appointed to the position of part-time faculty member to teach a course in Community Health Services.

Miss Mary A. Darragh has been appointed by Governor Herter to serve on the Commission to Study the Recodification of the Public Welfare Laws. Mr. Frederick J. Ferris has been appointed as Assistant Professor of Community Organization and Field Work. Mr. Ferris had been employed as Executive Secretary of the North Metropolitan Division, United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston.

This School has received a $1000 teaching grant from the Committee of the Permanent Charity Fund, Inc., and a $3000 teaching grant from the Mental Health Act Fund of the U.S. Public Health Services.

The School library has also benefited from a grant of $250 for the purchase of books from the Committee of the Permanent Charity Fund, Inc.

Fellowships and scholarships have been granted from the following sources. The Alumni of the Boston College School of Social Work has given the sum of $900 toward the Father McGuinn Scholarship. $1500 was received from the Committee of the Permanent Charity Fund, Inc. The School has received four fellowships from the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, two fellowships from the Mental Health Act Fund of the U.S. Public Health Service, and seven training stipends from the Veterans Administration.

Two fellowships have been granted to the School from the Children's Bureau, Washington, D.C., awarded through the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, and one partial tuition fellowship has been granted by the George Davis Bivin Foundation.

THE LAW SCHOOL

The Law School begins its twenty-fifth year in happy anticipation of a new building. In the spring of this year, a plot of land of more than three and a half acres on Commonwealth Avenue was purchased as the new site of this school. Mr. and Mrs. Vincent P. Roberts, Sr., for many years devoted friends and benefactors of the college, presented us with $28,000. to make this purchase. This brought the area of our campus to about 113 acres. For some months the firm of Maginnis and Walsh has been preparing the plans for this building, and as soon as the detailed blue prints are completed, they will be sent out to contractors for bids. This building, which will be constructed of brick and stone, will mark a departure from the traditional gothic architecture which has beautified our main campus. Somewhat functional in design, it will contain a large library wing with seating capacity in the main reading room for 250, and stack facilities for approximately 300,000 volumes. Six classrooms, a student cafeteria and lounge, Law Review rooms, typing rooms, faculty lounge and offices, a moot court room and administrative offices will provide ample facilities for some 600 students. The library will be named for Mr. Thomas J. Kenney, through whose generosity the college has inherited $500,000, which will meet about one half the cost of the building. The faculty lounge will be named for Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, the browsing room will be a memorial to the late Rev. Myles L. McLoughlin, S.J., and it is hoped that other benefactors may be found for whom portions of the building may be named.

BOSTON COLLEGE INTOWN

The Intown Evening College at 126 Newbury Street, had its greatest enrollment last year with 850 students. Of this number, the great majority were studying full-time for their A.B. or B.S. degrees. This year with the added space provided by the new classrooms on the first floor of the building, with the greatly enlarged library, the roster of fulltime students is even larger. In addition to these regular students, some members of the Alumni and other college graduates and their wives have come in for single courses that are offered in Theology, Philosophy, Literature or Business. Other Alumni have dropped in from time to time to visit the Chapel on the second floor of the building, or to chat with the Dean, Father Ryan of the class of '30, who is happy to show any alumnus around this off-campus B.C. building. Many members of the Alumni have also come to Newbury Street to one of the several courses of the Institute of Adult Education which offers seven-week series of lectures each Fall and Winter in Philosophy, Current Events, Religion and Literature.

SCHOOL OF NURSING

The School of Nursing opened her seventh year cheered by the recently received information that the Basic Collegiate Class of 1953 (20 students) had scored the highest average in all of the State Board Examinations in Nursing taken during the past year by 1636 students from the 59 Schools of Nursing (including three collegiate schools) in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. This was the second class graduated from the Basic Program; the Class of 1952 numbered 27. 225 registered nurses have received their bachelor degrees as in the Graduate Nurse Program in the last five classes.

Enrollment for this year has increased with 213 students in the Basic Collegiate Program (for high school graduates) and 117 full-time students in the Graduate Nurse Program (for Registered Nurses). Five of the 55 Basic Freshmen are daughters of B.C. Alumni.

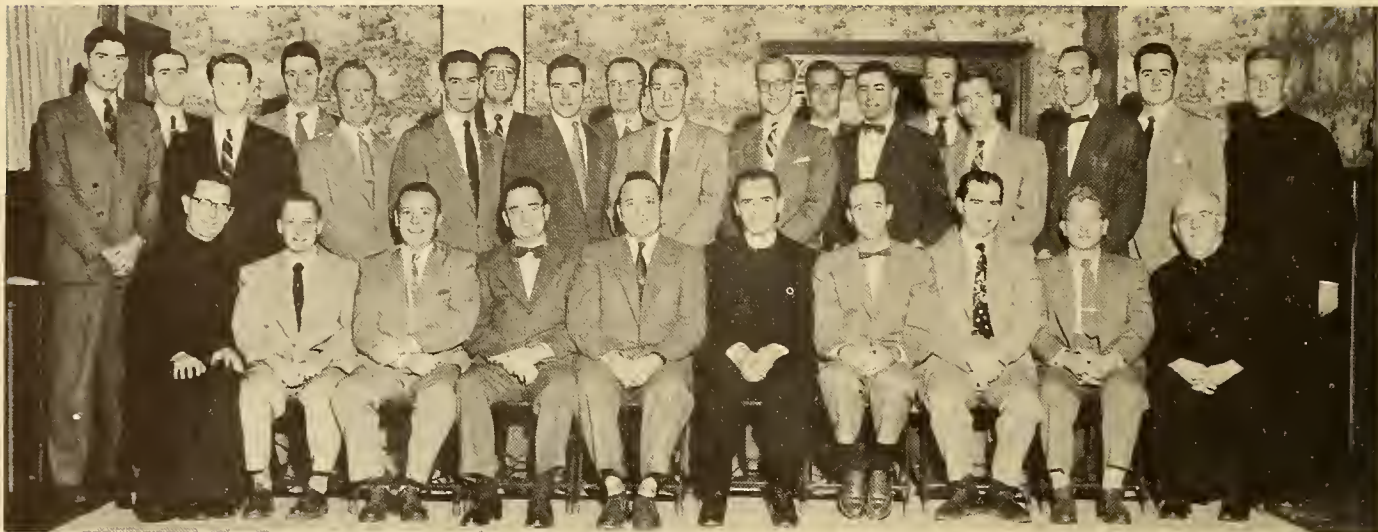

Our Nursing School students reflect the new trend in our student enrollment. 7 of the 55 Basic Freshmen are from out-of-state: 3 from Rhode Island, 2 from Connecticut, and 1 from Maine and Montreal. 28 of the full-time graduate nurses (119) are not Bay Staters; 9 are from Rhode Island, 7 from Maine, 5 from New Hampshire, 2 from Pennsylvania, and 1 each from Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Vermont, and New Brunswick.

The enrollment of graduate nurses who will work part time for their bachelors degrees at our School of Nursing is over 500. More than 300 of them will attend classes at Newbury Street, while others have joined in our Nursing extension programs at Worcester, Lynn, Springfield and Providence.

At our Ninetieth Commencement last June 1283 students were awarded degrees; 940 bachelor degrees and 343 graduate and professional degrees were awarded by Boston College. Their numbers are added to more than sixteen thousand fellow alumni in all fields and professions throughout this nation and in many nations abroad. They are another measure of the favor and providence of God for Alma Mater.

15th Anniversary . . . College of Business Administration

The Boston College School of Business Administration will hold a banquet to celebrate its 15th Anniversary on Saturday, November 14 at 6:30 p.m., in the College Dining Room, Lyons Hall. Tim Cronin, '45, and Charlie Doherty, '51, are co-chairmen of the dinner; Bob Dunn, '42, director of publicity; Frank Murphy, '42, toastmaster. Serving with Rev. Francis B. McManus, S.J., coordinator, the following are committee members: Front row, left to right, Rev. Francis B. McManus, S.J.; Robert Freeley, '52; James P. Reilly, '42; Robert L. Dunn, '42; Francis X. Murphy, '42; Rev. W. Seavey Joyce, S.J., Dean; Thomas Murray, '43; Andrew Carnegie, '43; Harry Goldstick, '50; Rev. Martin P. Harney, S.J., '19. Second row, Alan Foster, '51; Charles D. Kelley, '49; Lawrence Coen, '50; Charles Doherty, '51; Stephen Casey, '52; Paul McDevitt, '52; Bill Heavey, '52; Tino Spatola, '47; Ray Holland, '47; Henry Brash, '44; Timothy Cronin, '45; Rev. John J. Collins, S.J. Back Row, Cameron Beers, '50; Bernard Hagan, '51; William Smith, '52; William P. Melville, '48; John E. Gallagher, '50; Richard M. Glennon, '53. Not present when the picture was taken: Richard Grainger, '42; Charles Savage, '42; Eugene Burlingame, '47; John O'Neill, '48; William Harney, '49; William Driscoll, '50; William Lynch, '50; Fred C. Quirk, '50; Kenneth Gannon, '51; Allan Freedman, '51; Donald Waelter, '53; James Welch, '53; Thomas Spencer, '50.

Boston College Musical Clubs

The Musical Clubs at the Heights are starting the new year under the direction of Joseph D. LoPresti of Arlington. Mr. LoPresti, a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, has already been seen directing the Band at the football games, and, by the time this reaches the press, the Glee Club and Concert Orchestra will be in full rehearsal.

Since the reintroduction of extra-curricular activities on the Heights in 1946 one hundred and five students have spent four full years in one of the musical organizations and eighteen of that number spent four full years in more than one organization.

During the post-war years the Glee Club and Orchestra have appeared in many local concert halls as well as in Portland, Hartford, Chicopee, New Haven, Bridgeport and New York. Especially memorable is the "Afternoon of Song" sponsored by our Alumni at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

Over the years since 1863 many alumni have been in music at Boston College and have maintained an interest in the musical organizations after Commencement.

Since this article is written with a view to acquainting the members of the Alumni Association with the possibilities of sponsoring a concert in their locale, we may point out that a typical program of the Clubs includes several numbers of the Glee Club and Orchestra combined, individual selections by each unit, and selected instrumental and vocal soloists. Though "Adoramus Te" and "Panis Angelicus" are in the repertoire, a typical program also contains items such as "All the Things You Are," "Without a Song," "I Talk to the Trees," and, what has become a 'habit', the rhythmic spiritual "Dry Bone." A balanced program of good music, appealing to all tastes, is the aim of the Clubs and they have not been disappointing to their audiences. At times a dance band combination, made up of regular members of the Orchestra, plays for a dance after the concert. Sponsors of our concerts have been most successful when they interest a large number of their community by means of patron subscriptions and advertisements for the program. In that way they are able to take care of our transportation and over night accommodations and insure a large, appreciative audience. Our Alumni can help to spread the work of these musical organizations by getting local sponsors for concerts by these talented artists. Dates are still available from February 1, 1954 to May 1, 1954, and if an itinerary can be arranged, the Glee Club and Concert Orchestra are prepared to make an extended tour during Easter week each year.

We hope with the cooperation and ### Educational Conference

On Saturday morning, November 21, the School of Education is sponsoring a "home-coming" educational conference for Boston College men and women who are teachers or school administrators. The program which will take place in the Library Auditorium starting at 10 A.M., will include brief addresses by Rev. Charles F. Donovan, S.J., Dean, and Miss Marie M. Gearan, Dean of Women. Patrick J. Sullivan, A.B., '26, A.M., D.Ed., Director of the Division of Elementary and Secondary Education and State Teachers' Colleges, will be Chairman of the Conference. His Excellency, Most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, D.D., will sound the keynote of the conference, and the principal address will be given by a member of the Education faculty, Dr. John J. Walsh, '49. His topic will be "Criticisms of Modern Education." Father Donovan will send a Newsletter and announcement concerning the educational conference to those Alumni and Alumnae on his mailing lists. If any teachers or school people do not hear from him by Mid-November, he will appreciate it if they will send him their names and addresses.

He Went West

John Hart Clinton '26

By EDWARD A. HOGAN, '30

President of B. C. Club of Northern California.

Alma Mater may well boast that an education at the Heights is the basis for a versatile and colorful career if this son of Boston College be taken as an example. A member of the California, Massachusetts and Federal bars, Hart evidenced an early disposition toward a legal career by excelling in philosophy and by active participation in the debating societies while a student at Boston College.

Following graduation from college, Hart attended Harvard Law School, graduating in 1929 with the degree of LL.B. He then journeyed westward and became associated in the fall of 1929 with the firm of Morrison, Hohfeld, Foerster, Shuman & Clark of San Francisco, in which firm he was admitted to partnership in 1941.

The ability to approach problems involving the conflict of human personalities and ideals with sympathy and understanding, which is fostered in the graduates of Boston College, early qualified John Hart Clinton as a leader in the field of industrial relations. His immediate success in this branch of the law and the recognition of his abilities in the field of labor-management relations by both labor and industry led him to specialize in this field of endeavor. His activities in this regard commenced in the vital San Francisco Bay industrial area at a time of increasing tension and strife between labor and management in certain spheres of industry. Due in considerable part to his skill in negotiation and pronounced ability to reconcile the differences existing between these two groups, a gratifying degree of stabilization has been obtained. His ability in this difficult field of endeavor is evidenced by the fact that during the past decade he has served as Executive Vice President and acting head of the Distributors Association of Northern California, which association engages in collective bargaining negotiations on behalf of some 170 industries in the San Francisco Bay area.

In addition to the professional services above outlined, John Hart Clinton has participated in numerous sessions of the Labor-Management School of the University of San Francisco and has served for many years as director and officer of the California Newspaper Publishers Industrial Relations Bureau. The philosophy of Hart Clinton and those others who have engaged with him in industrial relations work may perhaps be best epitomized by the motto which the Labor-Management School of the University of San Francisco has adopted:

"Capital cannot do without labor, nor labor without capital."

That his abilities are not confined to the field of law is evidenced by the fact that Hart for many years successfully operated one of the leading hotels of the San Francisco Bay area, after salvaging it from bankruptcy. During the same period, he functioned as a member of the board of directors of another leading hotel in Sacramento, California. For several years he has been, and still is, the president and publisher of the San Mateo Times, a prominent California daily. He organized and operated on behalf of the San Mateo Times, radio station KSMO, now station KEAR, which pioneered on the west coast in the presentation of all-classical music programs. He has been active in various newspaper associations and philanthropic groups, including the Newspaper Boys' Foundation, the California Newspaper Publishers Association, Inc., and the San Mateo County Press Association. To all of these associations he has contributed that wealth of christian culture so thoroughly nurtured by his Alma Mater.

Hart was born in Braintree on April 3, 1905, and following his change of residence to California, was married there in December 1933 to the former Helen Amphlett of San Mateo, California. The Clintons reside in San Mateo, and have three children, Mary Jane, aged 18, a junior at Stanford University; Mary Anne, aged 16, a junior in San Mateo High School, and John, aged 9, who enters the fourth grade of elementary school this year.

Open House

by WESTON M. JENKS, JR., '45

Your son or daughter or some friend of theirs will be interested to learn of the special Open House Day at Boston College to be held this year on Wednesday, November 11. All high school seniors who might like to attend any of the university's schools are invited. This invitation has also been extended to school guidance directors who would like to come. An entertaining program has been planned to introduce everyone to the various schools, departments, and activities centered on University Heights.

Student guided tours through the laboratories and lecture halls of the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Education, the College of Business Administration, and the School of Nursing will follow a brief registration of guests starting at 9:15 in Bapst Hall. Demonstrations of equipment used regularly by students, exhibitions pertinent to clubs, and displays relating to departmental work will focus the individual's interest in activities both curricular and extra-curricular. Science groups, writing and dramatic organizations, sports and social clubs and more will present a panorama of their part in the way of life which the student would find in the course of his education at Boston College.

Luncheon will be served at noon to all our guests after which the Very Reverend Joseph R. N. Maxwell, S.J., President of Boston College, will deliver a message of welcome.

A football game between the Boston College and Holy Cross Freshman teams will begin at two o'clock and will be open to all our guests. Thus will close a day which the university hopes will provide the prospective student an earlier chance to become acquainted not only with the impressive architecture of our buildings but also with the more important personal vitality at work within.

Open House Day is an event which the university plans to make an annual feature. Its success is promised by the cooperative assistance of the undergraduate student body and yet the necessary personal contact with those interested in attending the university will depend on the alumni as well. It is hoped therefore that you will make an effort to see that those young people concerned are informed so that they may be able to join us on University Heights for the day of November 11.

The faculty committees in charge of the plans and organization of Open House Day includes the following: Reverend John L. Collins, S.J., John C. Conway, Joseph V. D'Avella, Philip F. Garity, '40; Owen A. Hanley, G'39; Paul T. Heffron, '42; Weston M. Jenks, Jr., '45; Francis G. Lee, '17; Henry P. McDonald, '24; Francis E. Murphy, John F. Norton, '22; Thomas H. O'Connor, '49; John J. Power, '35; Francis W. Sidlauskas, '44; Maurice K. Walsh, G'39.

The special student group which is assisting the committee includes: Walter F. Bankowski Jr., Frederick Cox, John J. Curtin Jr., John J. Devereux, Edmund Doyle, Patrick Foley, Gordon Gannon Jr., Robert King, James Maloney, Thomas Manning, Paul Murphy, George Parsons, Joseph E. Schmitz, Joseph Skerry, Richard W. Renehan, Harry Waterhouse.

Visitors will meet students active in the various extra-curricular organizations.

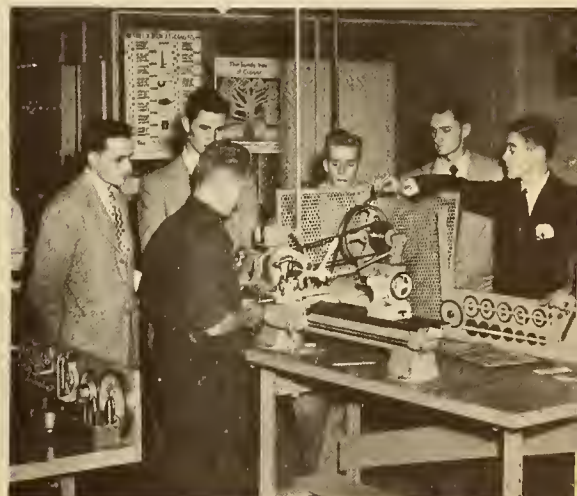

Tennis is but one of many extra-curricular activities open to the girls on campus.

Those with a particular interest in the sciences will be attracted by experiments in progress in the laboratories.

The Freshman Boston College-Holy Cross football game will highlight the afternoon's entertainment.

A guide describes the operation of one of the machines used regularly by students of Industrial Management.

EARTHQUAKES

*Earth's vibrations tell a story . . .
Boston College Graduate Students record and interpret them.*

Seismic Survey Instruments being operated by Father Daniel Linehan, S.J., '27.

By REV. DANIEL LINEHAN S.J. '27

The Department of Geophysics of Boston College inaugurated while Rev. William L. Keleher, S.J., was president, began offering courses in Geophysics and Geology in 1947. In that year the Boston College Graduate School offered full time courses leading to a Master's Degree in Geophysics. There are, on occasion, some undergraduate students, but they take their courses during the summer school session. This Graduate Department has opened a new field to the Boston College student, that of Engineering. Our students engage in actual engineering practices to determine foundations for roads, foundations for dams, foundations for buildings, to discover sources of underground water supplies, to locate better rock deposits for quarry operators and other like activities.

A SMALL BEGINNING

Weston Observatory began in 1929 in a small room as a department of Weston College and was the parent of the Department of Geophysics at Boston College. The Observatory obtained its first start in Seismology with a gift of equipment from Georgetown University. In 1933, Holy Cross College loaned an instrument they had purchased in 1909 and both of these instruments are still in operation at Weston Observatory today. In 1935, friends of the late Reverend M. J. Ahern, S. J., presented him with a fund whereby he could purchase the latest equipment in the seismological field. Accordingly, three components of the Benioff type of seismograph with its six recording assemblies were purchased and thus Weston Observatory became one of the three most sensitive observatories in the world, with the other two at Harvard University and the California Institute of Technology.

Operating a magnetometer survey. Fr. Linehan, S.J., R. Graham and Mr. J. Skehan, S.J.

WE BUILD:

Our present observatory building begun in 1946 contains 7,000 square feet of floor surface which is divided into some 16 rooms. This building houses our earthquake recording equipment, our geological museum, our library, the various offices and computing equipment that is required both for the staff and for the student body. The geological museum is an especially good one and perhaps is one of the best of the smaller collections to be found in any college or university in New England today.

OUR TOOLS—THE EARTHQUAKE

The best of our seismograph equipment for recording earthquakes is the Benioff assembly which has been mentioned above. This equipment is noted for the great range of earth frequencies it will record. Any vibration from a tenth of a second up to as much as three minutes in length is recorded with great magnification on this equipment. There is no other type of seismograph known that will cover the same range of frequencies as the Benioff type and since this was installed in 1936 it has constantly been recording on a 24-hour schedule. The Benioff equipment records many other things besides earthquakes and these recordings supply the data to those members of the Staff who are continuously studying the heart beats of Mother Earth. Each day as earthquakes are recorded, and there is rarely a day that an earthquake does not occur some place in the world, these must be read, the epicenters located, if possible, and the arrival times of the various phases at our station are sent by teletype to the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey in Washington, D. C. Bulletins are compiled at the end of each month giving preliminary readings of the stronger earthquakes that we have recorded at our station during that month. After some weeks a complete station bulletin is compiled and sent to various other observatories throughout the world. Weston Observatory is also the center for what is known as the North-East Seismological Association. We act as the clearing house for all data on local disturbances whether local earthquakes, quarry blasts or other large explosions. Additional data on these disturbances come to our observatory from Columbia University, Fordham University, Harvard University, Williams College and several of the Canadian Government seismological stations in eastern Canada. Once the data has been received, then the Weston observers compile the readings, locate the cause of the various disturbances and a bulletin is published and sent to all stations interested. This association was formed to assist the local seismological observatories in distinguishing between minor local earthquakes and quarry blasting occurring within northeastern United States and Canada.

OUR TOOLS—THE HURRICANE

During World War II this observatory inaugurated a study of hurricanes by the seismic method. The Weather Bureau was interested and each day we would send in readings from our station showing that a hurricane or some tropical or extra-tropical cyclone was occurring over the ocean. Planes would then be sent out to scout the area and if the disturbance was great enough traffic would be diverted from that section of the ocean where the storms were occurring. The method proved so accurate that at the close of the war the U. S. Navy inaugurated its own seismic system with various stations located throughout the West Indies, southern U. S. and various islands in the Pacific for the sole study of determining the location of hurricanes and other meteorological phenomena.

OUR TOOLS—FOR DEFENSE

Our Benioff instruments also showed us during the war that we could detect quite accurately submarine explosions, such as exploding mines, or depth bombs. If a depth bomb is dropped and discharged within a radius of 300 miles of Boston, within 10 minutes, sometimes less than that, we are able to locate that disturbance within a quarter of a mile of where it actually took place. The use to which this was put is still classified under military regulations.

PORTABLE FIELD EQUIPMENT

In 1937 the Observatory began use of seismic studies to determine subsurface geological conditions. Small explosions of dynamite which are, in fact, small earthquakes, record the passage of the little earthquake waves through the upper layers of material on small portable seismographs and reveal geological conditions. Such seismic methods had been used in the petroleum industry for several years, in working at depths of several thousand feet or more below the surface of the earth. The Geophysics Department was faced with engineering problems which arose because it was necessary to measure the upper few hundred feet in inaccessible places. Accordingly we built at the Observatory new equipment which would be much lighter and extremely portable so it could be carried into areas where automobiles and trucks could not maneuver. We have equipment weighing 150 lbs. to take the place of that weighing a ton or two.

ROADS

In this seismic field work we have been making special studies of highway conditions so that highway engineers will know before hand just how much rock they have to remove in the construction of a highway, how much would be loose sand, how much would be gravel. All of the new U. S. Route #128 was studied by seismic methods by us, at least three or four years before the highway construction was actually begun. Sections of U. S. Routes #1, 2 and 3 in Massachusetts and other smaller sections of other highways have been so studied. We have introduced the method to the state of California and we have worked in Oklahoma, on similar problems.

WELLS, FOUNDATIONS, AIRPORTS

In Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi, members of the staff have worked with various oil companies observing the various techniques that their seismologists use in the search for petroleum. As a result of our studies we have applied seismology in determining suitable geological conditions that would lead to water supplies for communities. In at least 100 towns and cities in New England, New York state, and New Jersey, new well fields have been developed on the basis of seismic studies by Weston Observatory.

Over a hundred building foundations have been similarly studied for churches, schools and power plants. Of the latter, the new Boston Edison station in Everett near the Mystic River was studied by Weston Observatory before construction was begun. In Pennsylvania, power plants of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company have been similarly studied and the types of buildings were determined on the basis of our studies. We have also worked on airports in both Worcester and Fall River to determine the types of drainage pattern that would have to be installed to drain the airport properly.

TUNNELS

We have used seismic methods for studying tunnels. Part of the new underground water tunnel which brings the water supply to the City of Boston was studied by Weston Observatory's seismologists from the year 1939 up to the present period to determine how the tunnel should go and where various shafts can be inserted. But the most interesting of these problems was the tunnel which will be built under Boston Harbor for sewerage disposal. This route, from Columbia Circle to Deer Island, was studied during the winter of 1952 by Weston's seismologists and in a few weeks time the survey of the five mile course was completed with readings taken at least every 50 feet; readings for some of the areas were repeated two and three times for accuracy. It would have taken several years to have done the same survey by drilling.

B. C. IN THE VATICAN

Boston College was the first to introduce seismic methods to assist the archeologist in his research. This first study was made in Vatican City, where archeological excavations are being made beneath St. Peter's Basilica. There were many problems that confronted the archeologists, such as, where to dig next, had they reached the lowest level, was the ground sufficiently solid beneath the foundations of the present structure. Problems like these were solved almost instantly by the seismic survey.

Boston College Clubs

CAMBRIDGE

JOHN F. COADY, '49, is the new president of the Boston College Club of Cambridge, and Walter G. Boudreau, '43, is secretary. Before relinquishing his duties, the past president, Dr. Salvatore Romeo, accompanied by M. Francis Nolan, '18, and John Coady, '49, visited the College to present a gift of $200.00 to Father Maxwell, president of the College, from the Club. The money was applied to the Alumni Fund.

CINCINNATI

The Boston College Club of Greater Cincinnati sponsored a reception to the president of the College, Very Rev. Joseph R. N. Maxwell, S.J., on the eve of the B. C.-Xavier game on Saturday, Oct. 24, at the Netherlands Plaza Hotel, Cincinnati. Executive Secretary Bill Flynn accompanied Father Rector.

DENVER

President Paul T. McGrady, '36, of the Denver Club sends word that most of the Alumni in the area are now Club members and others wishing to join the group may contact him at 840 Monroe Street, Denver, or phone CHerry 0853. Alumni in the area include: James F. McTiernan, '36, vice-president; Kevin Burke, '50, secretary-treasurer; Rev. Fabian Joyce, '39; Edward B. Clancy, '37; Francis A. Smith, '40; James J. Norton, '37; John T. Sudbay, '45; Eugene H. Dorr, Jr., '38; John M. Heher, '47; Rev. John J. Regan, '35; Dr. Francis C. Kane, '37; Frank Murphy, Paul Wilkie, Dr. D. J. Romeo and Dr. Pat Cronin.

HAVERHILL

A Boston College Club organizational meeting is planned by John J. Lynch, '39, 280 Mill Street, Haverhill, for Thursday evening, November 5. All Alumni in the following localities are invited to contact Mr. Lynch and are urged to be present: Haverhill, Merrimac, Amesbury, Salisbury, Newburyport, West Newbury, Groveland, Georgetown and Rowley.

LAWRENCE

Rt. Rev. Edmund D. Daly, '99, pastor of St. Patrick's parish, Lawrence, will be honored by the Boston College Club of Lawrence at a testimonial dinner to be held at Campion Hall, North Andover, on Tuesday, November 17. Monsignor Daly is celebrating the golden anniversary of his ordination. All the members of the Alumni join in congratulations and best wishes to our distinguished fellow alumnus.

Newly elected club president, John J. Hart, III, '48 CBA, hopes for 100% attendance by club members at this affair in honor of Monsignor Daly, who has always graciously offered the facilities of St. Patrick's to the Lawrence Club. Other club officers are: Edward L. Lanigan, '43, vice-president; Robert Sullivan, '27, secretary; Edward Glynn, '29, recording treasurer; Bernard Kiernan, '33, treasurer.

MILTON

With a successful reorganization of the Boston College club of Milton during the past year an ambitious program of events is being planned. One of the most illustrious and best liked members, Father Joe Keenan, passed to his reward in August and his absence will be felt by one and all. It is now the hope of the Club to run an annual scholarship fund dinner in his name for the purpose of assisting needy students matriculating to the Heights from the Club area of Mattapan, Hyde Park, Randolph and Milton. Edwin M. Thomas, D.D.S., '44, president, urges all members to contact him for membership cards at 110 Blue Hills Parkway, Milton.

NEW YORK

The first activity of the New York Club was a reception held before the B. C.-Fordham game on Friday, October 16 at the Hotel Governor Clinton. Several New York Alumni were joined at this affair by a representative group of local Alumni who went over for the game.

President Anthony A. Driscoll's business address is 30 Church Street, New York 7, New York, and the secretary, John A. Hickey, '19, may be reached at 32 Juniper Avenue, Mineola, L. I., New York. The Club's vice-president is William E. McInerney, '38, and the treasurer is Francis X. J. Donelan, '48.

PHILADELPHIA

Plans are being made now for a meeting of the Boston College Club of Philadelphia early in November. Club members will be notified and those Alumni not on the mailing list should contact President Paul Phelan, '51 CBA, 312 N. Reservoir Street, Lancaster, or Fred Cassidy, '33, Stockton Street, Pennsauken, N. J.

READING—STONEHAM—WAKEFIELD

John C. Cahill, '28, is the new president of the Reading-Stoneham-Wakefield Club. He has announced that the Club will sponsor a get-acquainted dinner on Thursday evening, November 5, at the Colonial Golf Club, Lynnfield. John J. McNulty, M. D., '35, and James J. Curley, '32, are co-chairmen and among the invited guests will be John "Snooks" Kelley, hockey coach, and Alumni secretary Bill Flynn.

All Boston College men and their friends in the area are cordially invited to attend, and tickets may be obtained from the president or the co-chairman or by contacting committee members, Bill Butler, Florence McAuliffe and Ed Furey.

SAN FRANCISCO

A very successful dinner dance under the chairmanship of Philip Brooks, '40, was conducted by the Boston College-Holy Cross Alumni groups in San Francisco on August 22. The get-together was a most enjoyable affair held at the Hunters Point Officers' Club. and Boston College Club president Edward A. Hogan, '30, feels such joint activities will mutually benefit both Alumni groups.

SPRINGFIELD

The Springfield Boston College Club under the direction of President Phil Callan, '25, has had a very active season so far with two successful affairs already written off the club calendar.

More than 200 men attended the jointly sponsored Boston College-Holy Cross Alumni clambake held on September 16 at Turner Park, East Longmeadow.

Rev. Frank Sullivan, S.J., Faculty Advisor, and Alumni Secretary Bill Flynn were present representing Boston College, and Dr. Horace Martineau was co-chairman of the evening.

On Sunday, October 16, the Club sponsored an excursion from Springfield to the B. C.-Villanova game at Fenway Park. 42 members and their families made the trip and had a wonderful day. In charge of the affair was President Phil Callan, George Keefe and Harry Fitzpatrick.

WALTHAM-WATERTOWN

The merger of the Boston College Clubs of Waltham and Watertown was completed at a joint meeting of the clubs last May. To be known as the Waltham-Watertown Boston College Club, it will be presided over by the present officers of the Waltham Club with president, Atty. Sebastian W. F. Olivo, '43, and secretary, William E. Corcoran, Jr., '51 CBA.

On the club agenda is a dinner dance to be held at Alumni Hall during November, a sports night in late January or early February and attendance at the Annual Alumni Communion Breakfast on Laetare Sunday.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Very Rev. Joseph R. N. Maxwell, S.J., president of the College, was honored at an informal dinner and reception sponsored by the Washington Club at the Shoreham Hotel on Wednesday, October 14. Eugene J. McDonald, M.D., '33, chairman of the dinner, presided, at one of the best attended affairs ever held by the Club. 110 Alumni were present to greet Father Rector and Alumni Secretary Bill Flynn. Earlier in the month Al Fiorentino, '43, was chairman of a Smoker and Club president John J. Mitchell, '37, has announced that monthly luncheon meetings will be resumed and will be held at 12:15 p. m., the last Monday of each month at Alfred's Restaurant, 1724 Connecticut Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C. All Boston College men working or visiting in the area are cordially invited to attend these monthly get-togethers. A Communion Breakfast will be held on Laetare Sunday and a Spring Cocktail Party will be held in late April.

Club president John Mitchell may be reached at Emerson 2-2932, and Secretary Joseph Crowley, '50, at Jackson 2-7500. Other officers are: Joseph M. Creed, '38, 1st vice-president; Gerald R. Amanti, '49, 2nd vice-president; treasurer, Charles A. Donelan, '38. Steering committee: Thomas J. Flavin, '26, Eugene J. McDonald, M.D., '33, Alfred Fiorentino, '43.

WEST ROXBURY

According to Nat Hasenfus, '22, West Roxbury Club head, the Club Communion Breakfast will be revived this year; a dance will be sponsored by the group, and possibly a lecture will be given at a date to be announced later.

Fordham-Xavier Weekends

By CHARLES J. HARVEY, '49

The Alumni of Greater New York and of Ohio swelled with pride as some familiar faces, names and fond memories flashed before them while the B. C. football team gave complete satisfaction by winning in their new-found towns.

An approximate figure of nearly 3000 B. C. Alumni and friends turned out for the B. C. team in New York and witnessed the Eagles' first win of the current season. A warm evening in the Polo Grounds proved to be an exciting time for the B. C. friends as Fordham fell a victim 20-13.

The B. C. band, never better, was surrounded by a responsive Boston College crowd, and for good reason as, the B. C. team was showing primarily, its real potential.

Fordham was a good team. It ranked first in the nation as a passing team. The B. C. defense stopped the Rams in the air as the Fordham passers completed only eight aerials after 20 attempts.

B. C.'s offense clicked as well as the defense. Quarterback Jimmy Kane called a great game. Dick Zotti thrilled the crowd of 20,000 by scoring two touchdowns, one a sizzling 55-yard dash through the middle of the Fordham team. The B. C. senior fullback also stopped a promising Fordham drive by intercepting a Ram pass on the B. C. 3-yard line.

The Fordham game was a big event for the displaced B. C. Alumni. A grand reception was held before the game and after the victory New York came alive with B. C. voices. This was B. C.'s first New York meeting with Fordham since 1935 when the Rams' cooled that day with a 19-0 win.

Just a week later this same team moved to Cincinnati, Ohio. There, the Alumni group was somewhat smaller but no less vigorous.

Plans for a reception to the B. C. team were in the making many months before the team's arrival.

A dozen or more ex-Eagles' appeared at the Cincinnati airport two hours before the plane landed. On hand was a hired 25-piece band well-tutored in, "For Boston," and "Hail Alma Mater."

The giant airliner taxied into position to these familiar tunes and the team players couldn't help but feel some pride with the fine reception they received.

A lengthy motorcade, decked out in maroon and gold spangles and the 25-piece band distributed throughout the numerous cars, headed by a police escort, sped through the streets of Covington, Ky., where the airport is located, and then through the Cincinnati ways that lead out to Xavier University.

That evening B. C. people started to arrive from various Ohio points and gathered for a pleasant reception to Father Rector, at Xavier University. Over 100 Alumni, wives and friends were present.

For the second week, B. C. men away from home were not to be denied. Gathered in one section, as a body, they cheered heartily as the B. C. team again took charge and whipped Xavier 31-14. Again, Jimmy Kane, and Dick Zotti performed in sensational ways. Zotti ran 70 yards with a pass interception for one score, and returned an Xavier punt 69 yards for another score. Kane passed to Danny Brosnahan and Frank Marr for long touchdown plays and Captain Joe Johnson dazzled the Xavier line with a short yet deceptive scoring dash.

Again, out-of-town Alumni had good reason to be proud of their athletic teams.

Before Zotti, Kane, Johnson and Company got their cleats in the ground and passes in the air, we played Clemson, Louisiana State, Villanova and the scores were 14-14, 6-42, 7-15 respectively. We certainly hope that the out of town B. C. enthusiasm and winning ways will find their way into the Eagles' own backyard.

The Varsity Club season resumed with the showing of the B. C.-Clemson football game by Coach Mike Holovak under the auspices of the Alumni and the Varsity Club. Every Tuesday evening the football game of the previous week-end is shown at Alumni Hall, Chestnut Hill at 8 P. M. All members of the Alumni are welcome.

The newly elected officers led by John J. Mahoney, '29, president, welcome the active support and interest of every major and minor sport "B" man. The $2.00 dues for the 1953-54 year are now payable and may be sent to Joseph Ingoldsby at Alumni Hall. Your membership card will be sent as well as the "B" scroll and pin on request.

Our goal is 100% membership. Your response will be a big lift and will help a lot in planning reunion activities for the various sports at Alumni Hall during the coming year.

Fred Gillis has recovered from his illness and is back on his job as assistant superintendent of the Boston schools. Fred's son is now coaching at English High School.

Father Joe Kelly, S.J., has been assigned to the Novitiate at Shadowbrook.

Frank Reynolds has a new address at 527 Veterans of Foreign Wars Parkway, West Roxbury.

Al Smith is slenderizing — he just doesn't look like our Al.

Our honorary member, Eddie McCarthy, has retired from teaching and is now in business.

Kindly remember in your prayers Leander DeCelles' mother.

Fr. Joseph Keenan, pastor of St. Elizabeth's Church, Milton, passed away the last Sunday in August after an illness of several months. His brother, Rt. Rev. Francis Keenan of Lowell, celebrated the Solemn Requiem Mass in St. Mary of the Hills Church, Milton. Assisting at the Mass were Fr. Francis Flaherty, pastor of St. Mary of the Hills, Deacon, and Fr. Maurice Dullea, S.J., Thurifer. Present at the Mass were three of Fr. Keenan's sisters all members of religious orders. The class was represented among the clergy by Fathers Anthony Meszlis, S.J., John F. Welch and Francis Murphy. Others from the class included Joseph Dee, Walter Durnan, John Doyle, John Flynn, Frank Heanue, John Mahoney, Roland Mahoney, Raphael McKeon, Maurice Murphy, Nicholas Petrocelli, William Reid, Carroll Thompson. Undoubtedly others from the class were present but in the very large crowd that filled the church to overflowing, all desirous of expressing their love and respect to a very much beloved priest, one could not identify many who were there. Space does not permit us to write an expression of the feelings of those who knew Father Keenan. However, Rt. Rev. William Daly the eulogist touched everyone and expressed the feelings of all. May he rest in peace.

Eddie Austin passed away on September 9th at his home in Billerica after a long illness. During the Solemn Mass of Requiem the class was repre-

Married at St. William's Church, Dorchester, August 8, Bill O'Sullivan's son Bill Jr. '47, to Mary Jane Commene (Regis College). The Nuptial Mass was said by the bride's brother, Father William Commene '43, of South Weymouth.

Tom and Mrs. O'Hare returned recently from an extensive tour of Alaska. At Anchorage they were entertained by Rev. Ronald K. Dunfey '45, of Holy Family Church. Father Dunfey is a son of Fred P. Dunfey '11 and was ordained at St. Aidan's Church, Brookline, by Most Rev. Dermot O'Flanagan, Bishop of Juneau last year at which time Father Tom Heagney the Pastor was Arch-Priest.

We record with sorrow the recent death of Mrs. Mary A. Cogan, mother of our deceased classmate, Edward. She was a marvelous woman and a devoted mother who still retained her interest in our class after Ed's death. May her noble soul rest in peace. The Class was represented at her funeral.

Father Pat Dawson has returned to his Newton home after a restful Summer spent at Beachmont.

Edward A. Sullivan of Cambridge has entered upon his sixteenth year as President of State Teachers College at Salem. "Perennially efficient" we say.

Father John Joyce's nephew Mr. Charles Dunn, S.J., a theologian at Weston College, spent the Summer at Fordham University studying Missiology.

The felicitations of the Class were sent to our former professor, Father Ignatius Cox, S.J. of Fordham University on June 28, on the occasion of his thirty-sixth anniversary in the Priesthood.

John S. Keohane's third grandson Charles D. Jr. was born to Charles D. (Brown Univ.) and Barbara Keohane Houlihan (St. Joseph's College) June 19 at Wellesley.

John Hogan, principal of the Rollins School, Lawrence, reports the birth of his first grandson, John J. III, at Natick in July. John J. Jr., '49 is the baby's father.

Congratulations on the thirty-fifth anniversary of ordination to: Most Rev. Eric F. MacKenzie, Revs. John J. Joyce and Timothy C. Gleason who were ordained on October 20, 1918, and to Revs. Edward McLaughlin, Thomas Heagney, Thomas Murphy and Charles I. Brown, ordained on March 22, 1918.

HONORARY

The honor of accompanying Cardinal Spellman to the dedication of the new North American College in Rome at ceremonies presided over by the Holy Father was conferred on Joseph E. Sullivan, LL.D., '51, well-known head of Sullivan Bros., Printers, Lowell.

Another honorary alumnus attending the ceremonies was Rt. Rev. Augustine F. Hickey, S.T.L., Ed.D., '25 pastor of St. Paul's parish, Cambridge.

Among the distinguished Alumni attending the dedication of the new North American College in Rome on October 14 were Rt. Rev. Charles A. Finn, S.T.D., pastor of the Holy Name parish, West Roxbury, and Hon. John E. Swift, recently resigned head of the Knights of Columbus. Judge Swift was accompanied by his daughters Barbara and Marilyn, and Monsignor Finn's brother, Rev. Aloysius R. Finn, '11, pastor of the Blessed Sacrament parish, Cambridge, also made the trip.

sented by Fathers Maurice Dullea, S.J., Anthony Meszlis, S.J., William Kerrigan, William McCarthy and John Welch. Others from the class were John Doyle, Walter Durnan, Frank Heanue, Frank Lee, William Reid and John Mahoney. The sincere sympathy of the class is extended to Mrs. Austin and to her children. May he rest in peace.

Father Anthony Meszlis, S.J., has returned to the college from the mission field and is professor of religion for the senior class.

Carroll Thompson has not been among us for several years. He is professor of chemistry at Loyola, Baltimore.

Tom Printon's boy Paul, valedictorian in 1953 at the Heights, is at Rutgers Law School.

"Porky Flynn" reports a good turnout for Alumni Day.

We deeply regret the news of the death on September 21 of classmate George Day. Our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Day. May he rest in peace.

A letter from Bishop McEleney from the Bishop's Residence in Jamaica, B.W.I., mentions author Myles Connolly whose latest book is "Reason for Ann". It is a worthy addition to his list of works which include "Mr. Blue", "Dan England and the Noonday Devil", "The Bump on Brannigan's Head", and the movie scripts for "My Son John", and "Hans Christian Andersen".

Bill Cashin's daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. William H. McKenna, are now residing in Yonkers, N. Y. Dr. McKenna is specializing in Orthodontia at Columbia University. Their son, William Michael McKenna, his grandfather's pride and joy, was two years old last April.

Bill Herlihy, Haverhill, puts in an appearance at all B. C. functions, and along with Dr. Jack Creed we can always count on two worthy representatives of 1918.

Please note the above address which is a new one for your correspondent. As your class agent on the Alumni Fund Council may I remind you that this is our 35th anniversary year and we should strive for 100% participation. If you haven't already done so send in your contribution as soon as possible. B. C. needs our financial assistance so let's put our class where it belongs high up in the number of contributors and the amount contributed. You have the necessary Alumni Fund envelope—just fill it and send it along.

We regret to report another great loss to the class in the death of Father Leo Burke, O.M.I. One of the finest minds in the Oblate Order, an ever loyal alumnus, Father Leo never failed to reply to all notices of class activities and his witty greetings to all his "fellow Forty Thieves" was an annual feature of our reunions. His death has saddened all members of 1920.

News out of the Lynn press is the good report that Arthur Frawley is to run for re-election for the all important position of Mayor of Lynn. His candidacy is rightly based on his excellent work during several previous terms as chief executive of the North Shore city.

Rt. Rev. Cornelius T. Sherlock, former superintendent of the Boston parochial schools has been named pastor of the Immaculate Conception parish on the Cambridge-Somerville line, and Rev. Leo B. Flynn is the new pastor of St. Jude's, Norfolk. Among Father Leo's new duties will be supervising the services in the Norfolk Prison Colony and the Pondville Hospital.

Frank Daly, in company of his sister, spent the summer in Europe visiting many of the places he saw for the first time in 1921 when he and three classmates visited Europe. This past trip was Frank's fourth trip abroad.

"Jake" Driscoll is in the V. A. Hospital in Jamaica Plain. He would like to see and hear from '22 men.

Gene Fanning is doing excellent educational work for the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

John Norton has been honored by the College for his outstanding work on the faculty for thirty years.

My new book and first juvenile, "Marie Visits the Zoo", forty pages of rhyme and full page illustration drawn by son Richard, who now illustrates my books, is on the market and has been well received. It is the actual visit of my daughter, Marie, to the Franklin Park Zoo and is written in the rhythm of the famous "The Night Before Christmas". May it be as successful!

Greetings to all as we enter our thirty-first year as members of the Alumni Association. What's news with you? Our best is that Walter Mayo, assistant director of music in the Cambridge schools, will have greeted his son, Walter, Jr., long missing in action in Korea, when you read these notes. It was the second incarceration for Walter, Jr., the first occurring after the Battle of the Bulge, in World War II. Walter Jr.'s brother, a lieutenant, met him when he was released at Inchon.

We have several congratulations to offer, the first being to Mr. and Mrs. Cece McGoldrick, who became grandparents last August 6th. A boy arrival certainly must have sent Cece into his dance again. While we are with the McGoldricks, let's mention that daughter Constance has been appointed a permanent teacher at the Washington Irving School in the Home Economics Department.

Congratulations to Matt Butler, recently appointed Vocational Guidance director at the High School of Commerce, and also to Ed Dullea, now head of the History Department at the Roxbury Memorial High School for Boys. Tim Tully is head of the English Department at the High School of Commerce.

We commend to your prayers the souls of our former classmates, Francis X. Dailey, who passed away last April and was missed by this column, although reported in "Necrology"; and the Rev. Charles Bryson, Ex '23. Requiescant in pace!

Al Lashway and his wife visited Alumni Hall in August. Al is now recreation director at the Berkshire Farm School in Canaan, N. Y.

Many of our classmates survived operations and serious illnesses during the summer. We are pleased to report that the following are now on the road to health: Matt Butler, Myles McSweeney, and Ed Dullea, who placed himself in the competent hands of our good classmate, Dr. Leo Desmond of Milton and Dorchester.

A note from Frank Kilcoyne informs us that he is an associate professor of English and Director of Public Relations at Brooklyn College. Frank mentions meeting Father Bill Lucey, S.J., at St. Michael's College, Winooski, Vt., where both attended a symposium in honor of Orestes Brownson last July.

Steve Littleton, his wife and daughter, have moved to their new home in Wellesley.

Dr. Chris Duncan has his four sons enrolled at various educational institutions in New England. Chris, Jr., is at St. Sebastian's; Paul, at the Portsmouth Priory; Clark, at Gov. Dummer's Academy, and Lee at Cardigan Mt. School in Canaan, N. H.

Revs. Edward McKenna and John Leonard have recently been appointed pastors in the Archdiocese. Father Ed to St. Theresa's, Sherborn, and Father John to Sacred Heart, Lanesville.

During the past several months death has taken Rev. Bernard Winn; the mother of Joe Tribble, the mother of Henry Jennings, and the father of Ed Kelley. Kindly remember them in your prayers.

A clip from the Concord (Mass.) Journal reveals that classmate Tom McGann, CPA, is Professor of Marketing and Chairman of the Department at Iona College in New Rochelle, New York. The Prof. and family reside in the Parkchester Development in the Bronx.

Gene Giroux reports that he and Anthony Julian had dinner with Joe Beaty who was a recent visitor from his adopted city, Detroit.

Bill Donahue, the "big" labor man, wrote us from Texas while on an extensive trip on union business.

Father Jack Keahane looked mighty fit after his flying vacation to South America.

Frank "Cheese" McCrehan was extremely active in the Cambridge School Committee election.

What a concentration of talent! On Barristers Beach (Court Street) in one day were seen: Al Hyland, Anthony Julian, George Verde, Charlie Monahan, Dan Lynch and Gene Giroux. Incidentally, Dan Lynch (the auburn one) is quite active in high Republican circles these days.

Dan Donovan was a welcome sight on Alumni Day. He's been on the road quite a bit teaching life-saving technique for the Red Cross.

Fr. Jerry Gearan of the U. S. Navy has been transferred from the Chelsea Naval Hospital to a base on the West Coast.

Neil O'Keefe's son, Neil, Jr., 1953 Editor-in-chief of the Sub Turri, has been assigned to Far Eastern duty aboard the U.S.S. Knapp.

The class was well represented at the two major Alumni activities during the past year—the Corporate Communion Breakfast and Alumni Day.

Plans are in the making for a get-together in early winter. The class will be notified. Meanwhile don't put off Gene Giroux's appeal for 100% class participation in the 1953 Alumni Fund.

It is with regret that we belatedly record the death of our classmate, Ed Spang who passed away last March 3 after a rather lengthy illness. To Mrs. Spang and her lovely daughters go sincere and heartfelt condolences.

The Class extends sympathy to Rev. Joseph G. Doherty, S.J., on the death of his mother on September 14. Father is now stationed at St. Mary's in the North End.

James F. Grady, '24, State Department attache, represented Boston College at the Inter-American Jesuit Alumni Congress held in Lima, Peru, this month.

You have all read by now of the sudden death of Dr. Eddie Eagan while attending our class outing at Osterville in June. The news wasn't in the June issue of the Alumni magazine because the story of the outing had been pre-written to meet a printing deadline. To those of us at Osterville Ed's death was doubly shocking because he had taken over the story-telling and we'd had a couple of hours of harmonizing the first night. He was taken ill the following noon and Drs. Art Gorman and Bob O'Doherty took him to the Cape Cod Hospital where he died shortly after admittance. Ed was associate chief at the Lynn Hospital, had served in the Army Medical Corps for four years, being released with the rank of Lt. Colonel. We will miss him. R.I.P.

Attending the outing were: Tom Cavanaugh, Henry O'Connell (quietest guy at the outing), Dr. Bob O'Doherty, President Art Gorman and his brother Dave, Murray Regan, Tommy Murphy, Charlie Schroeder, Jack Dorsey, Al Keenan, big George Burke, Joe Beecher, Bob Daley and your correspondent.

Two other wonderful times this summer—one at Dr. Art Gorman's lovely Humarock home in July, and the other at Tom Cavanaugh's beautiful place in North Scituate.

Frank Repetto is teaching at English High. He makes his home in Jamaica Plain.

Met long Johnny McMahon down at West Harwich on the Cape where he owns a nice place.

Saw Frank "Unk" Donahue a couple of times. (Frankly, I was trying to sell him a new Chevrolet.)

Monsignor Henry O'Connell is pastor of St. Ambrose's Church, Dorchester; Father Joe Mantle is pastor of the new St. John Chrysostom Church in West Roxbury.

We refer you to the cover of this issue to see how well 1926 is represented at the Heights by Frank Greulich's son, Frank, Jr.; Ann Dooley, daughter of John S., and my own Bill Cunningham, Jr.

'28 LLOYD L. DOYLE

279 Bowdoin Street

The class was deeply saddened at the sudden death of our classmate, Hon. John Henry Morris. He had participated in all our 25th anniversary celebrations and was the guest speaker at the Communion Breakfast of the Senior class at the Heights. Our sympathy to his wife, and sympathy also to Jack Ryder on the death of his father and to Arthur Tuohy on the death of his mother.

Personally, I wish to thank the members of the class for their kind expressions of sympathy on the deaths of my mother and brother.

Classmates will be interested in two of the typical comments received from the families of deceased members to whom we sent Mass cards on our 25th anniversary of graduation. Gene Lehan's wife writes: "After 25 years, it is comforting and pleasing to think that Eugene was remembered by the friends of his happy youth, who will always remember him that way." And from James Michael Curley: "I take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks to you and the members of the Boston College class of 1928 for your kind and thoughtful remembrance of my late son, James, upon the occasion of your 25th anniversary."

No doubt there is a sad tinge to my previous notes but "God's Will be Done."

It's good news to hear that Roy Tribble has fully recovered from his recent serious illness. He is now living in Schenectady and is associated with Radio Station WROW, Albany, N. Y.

Dr. Alex Ross represented the College at the inauguration of the president of Hamline University, St. Paul, Minnesota. Alex is practicing in Minneapolis.

"Doc" Nolan has questioned Dan Driscoll's claim of the youngest child of a member of the Class of '28. This can go on forever—the deadline was June 1, 1953.

Arrangements will be made and committees formed for future affairs to mark our 26th anniversary. Details will be mailed to you.

At a recent committee meeting called to discuss the celebration of our twenty-fifth anniversary in June (How do you like that, my fellow venerable buzzards?), Vincent P. Roberts, Jr., sought to dispute the validity of the election on Alumni Day at which he was designated to succeed your correspondent as class president. Escape from that post had eluded me in December at the time of the class meeting and annual dinner since the first post-prandial departure (ordinarily a guarantee of election for the new victim) was a general one with everyone acceding to the request of the Alumni Hall Committee (by all means have your class dinner there) to join a throng of Alumni on hand to view pictures of the Cross game as shown and brilliantly commented upon by our fine coach, Mike Holovak. It was vigorously pointed out, however, to President Roberts that at Alumni Day a large group of his classmates, including former presidents Eugene McLaughlin, John Mahoney, Henry Leen, Edward Lee, Dr. Bill Flynn and George Donaldson, Bob Buck, Ed Murray, Joe Bermingham, Gerry Trepanier, Bill LaFay (sorry I mislaid the list of the many others who were present—1929 men are always present in numbers at Alumni affairs) and your scribe overruled Mr. Roberts' protest. Following class custom and tradition, our new president was elected "in absentia."

Father John Orczak has been named a member of Mayor Hynes' Rehabilitation Committee for the West End of Boston, where he serves as pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Ostroboma.

Several classmates participated in funeral services for a devoted friend of Boston College, an Alumni Association member, honorary Varsity Club member, Maurice J. Tobin, late Secretary of Labor, former Governor of Massachusetts and Mayor of Boston. John Mahoney was an usher; Henry Leen, Knight of the Holy Sepulchre, was one of the personal escort to His Excellency, Archbishop Cushing celebrant and eulogist, and Francis Cardinal Spellman who presided at the Mass; William McCann, who escorted his wife Anna, cousin to the late statesman, to the services; Father John Frawley, who as a member of the Cathedral clergy, assisted in arrangements there; James H. Alphen, Principal Assessor, who joined other City of Boston Department heads in the tribute, and your correspondent who was the funeral director. (Parenthetically, and I hope that Editor Bill Flynn will permit me to stray this once beyond class matters, it was deeply satisfactory to me to see so many Boston College men, the Most Excellent celebrant; Father Rector, who assisted him; Monsignor Daniel Donovan, who led the chanting of the committal prayers, and so many more of us, join in a last tribute to a good man who was a Boston College man in his soul.)

Jerry and Marion Mahoney forsook Falmouth for the first time in many years to vacation on a cross-country motor tour which found them in California in early September. I hope they found Jack Barnwell better and ready to be with us on our twenty-fifth.

Letters to classmates will soon be arriving from President Roberts and John Martin, comptroller of the City of Newton, pointing out the necessity of doing well for the College in the Alumni Loyalty Fund this year.

Plans for the 25th Anniversary are in the making and you will be kept informed.

President Roberts hopes to conduct a Family Communion Breakfast at the College (Gosh, I've got quite a group to take along now); a luncheon; a family outing (perhaps a week-end affair); a dinner during the year and, of course, a real turnout for the class parade on Alumni Day.

Executive City Editor Al Monahan, of the Boston Globe, will not be surprised to learn that he is by Presidential Order (Roberts, that is) designated to inflict photographs of the ageing faces of his contemporaries and news items about their anniversary doings not only upon the readers of his own excellent journal, but upon the followers of other newspapers.

Scheduled for the fall season is a football dinner-dance. The executive committee is meeting to set the final details for this new event. The last two socials for the ladies were such pleasant and successful affairs that it was considered in order to treat the distaff side to another party fairly early in the season. At this writing, the date has not yet been definitely set, nor have the final arrangements been concluded. This notice, however, is fair warning to the ladies that they will shortly be invited as guests to an afternoon and evening of entertainment which should eclipse anything the class has ever sponsored. More than seventy people enjoyed our dinner-dance of last spring; we feel that all those who came last time will be eager to come again, and those who were prevented from appearing the last time will want to be on hand at this event. In due course, letters will be sent to the members of the class; complete details will be set forth concerning the football dinner-dance.

The regular fall stag dinner of the class will have to give way, this year, to the new event outlined above. As for the Communion Breakfast and Memorial Mass, the scheduling of this activity depends upon the disposition of the members of the class as voiced in their opinions to the officers. It was suggested some time ago that the class sponsor a week-end retreat, presumably at Campion Hall. If there are enough members who can fit such an activity into their programs, the committee would be happy to consider this retreat.

Fifty men enjoyed the reunion and luncheon at St. Sebastian's last Alumni Day. As usual, our host, Fr. Charles Flanagan, outdid himself in extending hospitality. The men who were able to make the reunion enjoyed themselves immensely.

Fr. Tom Griffin, Procurator of Gannon College, Erie, Pennsylvania, was able to get home to make his summer visit to his friends and relatives.

Fr. Ed. Cheney, S.J., was welcomed by the members on his return from Jamaica. A special reception and informal party was arranged by the class to

REV. CHARLES R. FLANIGAN, '31

St. Sebastian's Country Day School

HOOD ST., NEWTON

Bigelow 4-1456

The Navy has announced the appointment of Commander John J. Lynch, '33, USN, as executive officer of the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain. Married, the father of a son, Charles, he is a brother of Daniel J. Lynch, '25.

extend our welcome and to exchange impressions since the last time Father was able to greet the men. Father has just returned to Jamaica to do his next stint on the island.

Two of the members recently lost fathers. The class extends sympathy to Fr. Maurice Whelton, S.J., upon the loss of his father during the late spring just past. The father of Dick Fitzpatrick died in July.

Fr. Joe Barrett, S.J., has been relieved of his duties at B.C. and assigned to duties at Fairfield. Fr. Meehan, who has been on the staff at St. John's Seminary for a number of years, has been given the responsibility of the Rectorship at St. Clement's Hall, residence hall for First Theology students at St. John's.

The class has extended its sympathy and a modest contribution to the Worcester Disaster Relief Committee. More specifically, we extend our sympathy to our classmate, Bishop John J. Wright of Worcester, in the overwhelming destruction visited upon his people and properties. We can appreciate the heroic efforts of the Bishop in his program of rehabilitation.

Our treasurer, Fr. Charlie Flanigan, awaits with eagerness the morning mail. He is in daily expectation of acknowledgments of his appeal of last June. As you recall, Father outlined the goals of the class with respect to the Jubilee Fund. Our twenty-fifth anniversary will be celebrated in June, 1956, not too far distant a date. Father's suggestion was that each man send him ten dollars or more at this time and in subsequent years so the sum of about fifty dollars will be credited to each member at our Jubilee.

Response to the above has been good to date, but a better demonstration is expected during the coming season. As Father was careful to point out, this class treasury has nothing whatever to do with the annual Alumni Fund. This is purely our own class baby and we desire that it interfere in no way with the response of members to the Alumni drive. Incidentally, our participation in the latter has been gratifying to Agent Tom Crosby.

Four carefully planned activities have been offered to the members during the last couple of years. If anyone would like to see additions or changes in this program, suggestions would be welcome by the Executive Committee. Contact Fr. Arthur Norton, class president, at St. Brendan's Rectory, Dorchester; Fr. Charles Flanigan, treasurer, St. Sebastian's School, Newton; or Richard Fitzpatrick, scribe, address above.

John Murray has been teaching in the Somerville school system for more than twenty years. He is an instructor in the Somerville High School. John is the father of five youngsters, two of whom are of high school age. The oldest boy would like to attend B.C.

'32 JOHN P. CONNOR 24 Crestwood Circle Norwood

The prayers of the class are asked for the father of Bill Cannon, and our condolences to Felix Albano, whose mother died in June.

Ed Gallagher and his wife were among the guests at Senator John Kennedy's wedding in Newport, R. I.

Jack Cronin's wife recently presented him with his fourth child.

Dr. Bill Egan has returned to Newton after summering at Scituate with his wife and ten children.

Dr. Al Kiburis spent the summer at the Cape.

Father Daniel McColgan was elevated to the rank of Monsignor last June.

Pat Hennessy is now residing in West Roxbury.

Dr. George Morris was the guest speaker on the Blue Cross TV program recently.

Among classmates seen at the Heights on Alumni Day: Dr. Andy Spognardi, Jack Ruddy, Jack Patten, Bill Bennett, Father Bill Carroll, Father Ed Nowlan, S.J., Fran Curtin, Ed Gallagher, Ed Hurley, Frank Rice, John Collins and Gerry Kelly.

John "Bud" Reilly, who recently returned from a tour of NATO countries with first-hand information of America's position on the continent, was the guest speaker at the summer outing of the Lynn Bar Association. "Bud" was on a recent tour of Europe on a special assignment for the Secretary of the Navy.

'33 CHARLES W. O'BRIEN 33 Hollywood Road West Roxbury 32

If you have failed to file an income tax return, that ominous knock at the door will be "Tubber" Brennan, far and away the most photogenic of the redoubtable band of storm troopers of the Bureau of Internal Revenue who appeared in the public prints just before the door-to-door survey campaign was initiated.

Father "Mike" Donelin is still shooting close to par on the fiendishly trapped Marshfield Country Club, where your correspondent's footprints are indelibly preserved for posterity.

Congratulations to Lt. Comdr. Terry Griffin on the recent addition to his family. Terry is expected back from the Rhine River Patrol in the near future.

Also to Ken Kelley on his re-election without opposition as Secretary-Treasurer of the Mass. Federation of Labor.

Rev. Christopher P. Griffin, '33, St. Peter's Cambridge, has been appointed State Chaplain of the Knights of Columbus. There are 50,000 Knights in the jurisdiction of Massachusetts and it includes four dioceses, Boston, Fall River, Springfield and Worcester.

Mr. Ike, please note '33's candidate for Secretary of Labor.

Justin McCarthy is a proud daddy again. That makes six little McCarthys in all. Justin is hoping that a representative delegation from the class will make the trip to New York for the Fordham game.

Johnny Mackin is building a new home in West Roxbury with suitable Charlie Quinn has been appointed 1954 Red Cross fund chairman for the Town of Belmont.

Dinny Ryan is now "at home" in his new residence on Fenno Street in Wollaston.

On June 9 Father Joe Shields became the first pastor of the newly instituted Holy Redeemer parish in West Lebanon, New Hampshire.

Neil Sullivan is about to become a Milton squire, having recently acquired a new home there.

Our deepest sympathy goes to the family of Father Thomas F. Sennott on his recent untimely death. Requiescant in pace.

'34 DANIEL I. CRONIN 3 Laird Road West Medford

Ken Carey has terminated his faculty connection with the B.C. Business School and will devote full time to the practice of law in his home town of Danvers.

Bill Carr and Lou Musco were both successful in their bids for nomination to the Boston School Committee. Bill was second in the field of twenty candidates.

Bob Ott and Walter Kelley were both speakers at the Northeast Regional Conference of the American Public Welfare Association held in Washington late in September. Bob and Walter are directors of the two major divisions of the Massachusetts Department of Public Welfare. Bob Ott is Director of the Division of Child Guardianship; Walter Kelley, Director of the Division of Public Relations.

Tom Sullivan of Malden was recently elected president of the Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's Parish in that city.

Condolences are extended to Rev. Francis A. Doherty on the death of his mother.

Dr. William Kvaraceus has returned to his teaching position at B.U., after a year spent in Turkey where he served as an advisor and instructor in the education and training of exceptional children, especially the delinquent and mentally retarded. While in Turkey he helped to establish a "Boys' Town on the Black Sea".

'35 WILLIAM J. FITZSIMONS 40 Court Street Boston

The class extends its sympathy to Dr. Paul Hurley on the recent death of his father.

John Magee was appointed recently to the faculty of the Central School in Athol as an English teacher.

Frank McElroy has been appointed director of the Budgeting and Allocating Division of the United Community Services. Frank formerly was a member of the faculty at Boston College School of Social Work. He is a member of the American Public Welfare Association and the American Association of Social Workers. Frank has three daughters and resides in Needham.

Randy Wise is now director of the Department of Public Welfare in Philadelphia.

Bill Giblin is associated with a private investment group with offices in New York and Europe. His group is now opening a new office in Monte Carlo, France.

Dan Holland is now General Counsel for John Donnelly & Sons and affiliated companies.

Jack Murphy is still engaged in the insurance business in Sacramento, California.

'36 JOSEPH P. KEATING 24 High Street Natick

Sympathy of the class is extended to "Tip" O'Neill on the recent death of his father.

Father J. David Welsh of Lowell has been appointed as Archdiocesan Director of the Catholic Guild for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing.

Brent Gordon, who has just moved into his new home in Natick, was Master of Ceremonies at the cornerstone-laying of the new Quartermaster Research Lab in Natick.

Congratulations to the Mark Daltons of Dover on the birth of their third child, Timothy, last May.

Congratulations to the Tom Mahoneys on the birth of their second child, a daughter, born in July. Tom's brother was ordained a Jesuit in June.

Arthur O'Connor, now a Lt. Com. in the Navy, has recently been assigned as Legal Officer for Receiving Station at Fargo.

That's a new address for the class correspondent, with a new daughter (the fifth), Martha Frances, born in August to go along with the new home.

Mark Dalton and Francis E. Sullivan, '38, have announced the formation of a new firm for the practice of law—Dalton & Sullivan, at 114 State Street, Boston.

Gerry Burke has been elected class president. You will be hearing from him shortly about a future class activity.

'37 EDWARD J. PHILLIPS, JR. 7 Dickinson Road Brighton

The sympathy of the class is extended to Very Rev. Robert J. Sennott on the recent death of his brother, Rev. Thomas F. Sennott, '33. Monsignor Sennott is now Procurator of the North American College in Rome, Italy.

News items about class members will be welcome. Get in touch with your class correspondent.

'38 THOMAS F. TRUE, JR. 37 Pomfret Street West Roxbury 32

Two members of our Class have joined the ranks of the benedicts—

Harry Lynch and Catherine Hampe of Roslindale were married last July.

Kev Sullivan took a Southern belle as his bride, Jean Craigs Krazenbuhl. The ceremony took place in her home town, Falls Church, Virginia, on September 19th.

Lt. Col. "Junie" King recently participated in the Army's fifth annual logistical support maneuvers. "Junie" and his wife, Geraldine, are living at Fort Lee, Va.

Dr. Joe Boyle has opened an office in Lawrence for the practice of obstetrics and gynecology. Joe had been teaching at Tufts Medical. The Boyles have three children—two boys and a girl.

Father George Everard has been assigned to St. Elizabeth's, Milton.

Hugo Blandori has been appointed to the executive board of the Plastlight Corp. of Stamford, Conn., a plastics manufacturing concern. He had been with the F.B.I. for twelve years as a special agent in Haiti, Chile and various assignments in this country. Hugo has three children.

Joe Butler is now with the Mass. State Department of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Dick Canavan is teaching in the Boston School System.

John Morris has been appointed head coach at Boston Technical High School. John will also teach mathematics there.

Our class was well represented at the first meeting of the Catholic Alumni Sodality by Ed Cady, Dr. Phil Marco, Dr. Bill O'Connell, Dick Canavan and your correspondent. We also saw Jim O'Hare, Tony DiNatale and Vin Shamirian at the Clemson game.

Francis E. Sullivan is now associated with Mark J. Dalton, '36, in the law firm of Dalton & Sullivan at 114 State Street, Boston.

'39 THOMAS F. TURNAN 52 Ridgewood Street Dorchester

Echoes of Thirty-Nine's Alumni Day Luncheon: Congratulations to Chairman Larry Burkard and Committeeman John Ryan for the best meeting in recent years—33 trenchermen and no deficit. Officers for 1953-54 are Frank McDermott, Pres.; genial John Flynn,

COSGROVE'S

One glass will tell you this is a superior milk. Every drop is "creamy" tasting, smoother. Children and grownups alike enjoy drinking Cosgrove's.

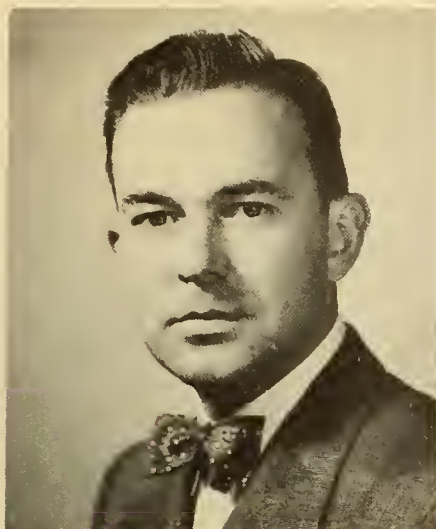

If you live in Dorchester, Roxbury, South Boston, Jamaica Plain, Roslindale, West Roxbury, Milton, or Quincy, we would be very pleased to take care of your dairy requirements, either retail or wholesale.

VIN COSGROVE '33

JACK FITZGERALD '37

Thomas G. Bradley, '39, is now director of sales and promotion for Pfizer Laboratories, New York. In his new position, he will undertake responsibility for sales planning, sales training, operation of the sales staff of more than 500 men and integration of all promotion activities.

Vice-Pres., and Tom Turnan, Sec.-Treas. Dr. Al Branca is Chairman of the Fall Dance Committee, and Bill Holland is Chairman for the Holy Cross game reunion. At the meeting Frank Cuddy stated that he is definitely in the --- business but that professional ethics will not permit him to advertise.

In the absence of oft-requested reports from the field we must resort to the more primitive journalistic devices to keep this year's Fifteenth Anniversary Class in the fore. Liberal local libel laws let us say that any conclusions you draw herefrom are your own. Sig Somy was promoted to cover (?) the Boston area for the Jantzen bathing suit organization. Fr. Joe Casey returns for teaching duties at Weston after scurrying through Belgium, Germany and Ireland for three years. Earl S. Foley, Social Worker at Charlestown State Prison, is now living in Walpole following his marriage to the former Veronica Dee of West Concord. Did Fr. Tom McDonald get that sharp new Air Force uniform simply because he was assigned as Lieutenant, Chaplain Corps, Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas? Lt. Col. Ray Coyne, Georgetown Law grad, member of the Mass. and Washington bar, now in charge at the USMC Judge-Advocate's office, Panmunjom, Korea. Alumni Secretary Bill Flynn had the pleasure of welcoming his old buddy, Gerry Coughlin, when he visited Alumni Hall last month. Gerry makes his home in San Salvador, South America, where he holds the franchise for International Harvester trade. He is married and the father of two children.

Just what, exactly, did Paul Nagle, Regional Director of the United Defense Fund, have in that brief case when he met national campaign chairman General Jimmy Doolittle at Logan Airport recently? Fred Molloy is teaching in the Boston School System. Just nominated member of the Boston Arena Authority, Dan McFadden is also Park Commissioner and Civil Defense Director in Arlington, Mass. Where did George Norberg get those pink-banded cigars he passed out after the arrival of his fifth youngster, Joan? Capt. Charlie Cleary has repaired to Reading since his return from duty with a USAF Air-Sea Rescue unit at Honshu, Japan. Married to the former Rita Yumont of Jamaica Plain, he is again Flight Dispatcher with Northeast Airlines.

There is a story here somewhere. Unbounded optimist Paul F. X. Duniagan, contact chemistry engineer for GE at the Hanford Atomic Products Operation, is also the Richland, Washington representative of Bob Powers' Spokane agency of the Mass. Mutual Life Insurance Co. Dan Horton, three-time Pres. of the Central Mass. BC Club, is living in Natick where he is General Manager of the Cott Bottling Co. of Boston. Frank Cuddy allows as how he recently turned down an offer to join Habeas, Corpus, Delicti & Schwartz. News and notes are most welcome, and needed, at the address above.

'40 WILLIAM F. JOY
7 Lindbergh Road
Wakefield

We extend our congratulations to Tom Cudmore on his appointment as Executive Director of the Albany, N. Y., Community Chest. His office address there is Room 1106 National Savings Bank Building, Albany, N. Y. We will miss Tom locally for he has always contributed in large measure to the success of all class and Alumni Association activities.

Joe Farren has been named assistant director of rehabilitation of the Massachusetts Tuberculosis and Health League. He was formerly chief of vocational rehabilitation at the West Roxbury Veterans Hospital. Joe holds a master's degree in education from B.U.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Lynch, now of Wellesley, on the birth of a third child, second daughter, Anne Eileen, on July 4.

Patrick Mogan has been named principal of the Hugh J. Molloy School in Lowell. He and his wife make their home at 279 Nesmith Street in Lowell.

Mayor Hynes has appointed Bob McGovern a member of the Rent Control Board for the City of Boston. Bob is also an assessor for the City.

Ed Healey, M.D., has opened an office for the practice of Radiology at 270 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston.

Congrats to Frank Ahearn, President of the Boston City Council, on his fine showing in the Municipal Primary.

George Gallagher, his wife and son, Larry, visited Boston in September. George joined the legal staff of Swift & Co. after graduating from Harvard Law School, and resides in Chicago.

B.C. Track Coach Bill Gilligan spent the summer at Hampton Beach, where he is a swimming instructor. Bill is the proud father of four children.

Ed Kenny and his family spent the month of July at the Cape. Ed is associated with the law firm of Winston, Strawn, Black & Towner of Chicago and lives in Evanston. The Kennys have four children.

Michael Noonan is Chief of Social Service at the V. A. Hospital in Rutland Heights.

John Dubrule is a Commander, USNR, and is a naval attaché with the Department of State.

All members of the class are urged to support the Alumni Fund. Keep our class record high.

Serving So Many Who Know So Much About Good Food

Good eating in America had its start in New England. The Thanksgiving Celebration of the Pilgrims, for example, was probably this country's first banquet. Even today, old New England recipes for such dishes as Johnny Cake and Indian Pudding are treasured by good cooks everywhere.

That's why First National Stores, serving many thousands of customers daily in New England and Westchester County, N. Y., are proud to play such an important role in this land of good eating.

Class President, John Buckley, has announced the arrangements for the Annual Class Reunion and Dance to be held at Alumni Hall. It will be held Turkey Day Eve, Wednesday, Nov. 25, at eight p.m. Tariff for the gala event will be $2.00 per couple. It's just prior to the Holy Cross game, and you have the next day off. Get in the spirit of the occasion and get out to the Heights!

The news—Lt. Jim Moroney has received the Purple Heart for wounds suffered in Korea... Larry Murphy, our Tree Orator, is going to the North American College in Rome to further his studies for the priesthood... Tony Micelotti, studying dentistry at the Univ. of Maryland, married Ann Garbarino of Framingham in June.

The married—Margaret Shea of Dalton and Bob Delaney; Barbara Malins of Brookline to Larry Bennett; Marie Buckley of Cohasset to Bill Blakeman; Mary Flynn of Northboro to Lt. George Gogan; Virginia Ames of Wellesley to Tom Lerro; Irene Wiater of Conn. to Frank Jones; Norma Boule of Newton to Lt. Paul Burns, U.S.M.C.; Jeanne Diotte of Saugus to Lt. Ed Sweeney, U.S.A.F.; Pat Bodor of Lynn to Charlie Pashby; Mary Snow of Malden to Bob Hart and Barbara Chrisom of Wollaston to Paul Golden.

Engaged are: Helen Saba of Lawrence to Joe Shaheen; Sandra Stevens of Weymouth and Bill Robes; Mary Crean of Newton and Larry Vachon; Dolores Magno of Revere to Bob Allen, and Lillian Harutunian of Watertown to Charlie Jingoian.

Out of O. C. S. Newport come Ensigns: Bernie Cullen, Paul Nolan, John M. Sullivan and Bill O'Sullivan.

We've seen or heard—Paul McCarrick orating on a street corner in Revere... Joe McKenney is in Korea... John Quinlan is to teach in Saugus... Joe Gillis is out of the hospital, write a note to him... Jerry Dacey has graduated from Army N.C.O. School; Bob Richards still coaching Frosh football at the Heights, will return to the Law School this fall with Frank Dooley et al; Ed Sheehan is doing Public Relations work for Uncle Sam at Norfolk Navy Base.

Who are all the proud fathers in the class? Tell us and we'll all know!

Charles Daly, Jamaica Plain, with the Navy in Kansas was home on leave in September. He and Mrs. Daly with baby daughter, Ruth Ann, paid a visit to Alumni Hall.

Dave Whalen is in the Far East with the Marines, and Paul Johnson is in the operational office of the Berlin Command Ordnance Branch in Berlin, Germany.

Biting the DIAMOND DUST are Lou Carroll who became engaged to Theresa Angers... Lt. Frank Vaughan to Theresa Cullinane... Dave Norton to Marie LaSpina... Eddie Englert to Connie McGoldrick... Mary Jo Beatty to Lt. Frank Torpey... Jack Murray to Anne Elbery... Dave Sullivan to Carole Sanders.

SUMMER WEDDINGS were also very popular with the men of '52 as attested by the marriages of Lt. Paul McPherson to Mary Sanders... Ensign Tom Megan to Claire Russell... Ensign Frank English to Claire Sullivan.

Many of the boys in the service are in contact with your "news nose" and postmarks indicate Tom Cummiskey still vacationing in Thule, Greenland with the U. S. Army... Lt. Ken Manning based at Quantico, Va... Lt. Jack Hansberry at Camp Lejeune... Lt. Charlie "Friday Quiz" Brown in Birstow, Cal. with the Marines... Sorry about the mis-statement in the last issue, Charlie, the grapevine must have been wrong... Joe Ford with the Army in Korea. OTHER TIDBITS: Bob Corcoran now in the Sales Division of Liberty Mutual was one of 15 selected in a nation wide competition for the job... nice work Bob... Charlie Barrett, a CBA man, finished first in his class at the B. C. Law School a trick that isn't easy, believe me... John "Smiles" Buckley tells me of a few new innovations at the class dance, Nov. 25 one of which is a milk bar! Well, don't get lonesome, John... Bob Freely and Tom Kane rolling along merrily in their first business venture... Fr. Jim Sullivan now at Weston.

During the past four months most of us have become at least comparatively settled in our new life as Alumni. Many have gone into the service and many await the "call" and still others have pursued graduate work or have gone into business. But, at least by this time we know where we stand so here is the general rundown of what some of the '53'ers are doing.

Piano-playing Jack Rahilly, who had a very successful season the past summer at Scituate's Dreamworld has signed a new "long term" contract. He is currently billed at Shadowbrook with the other Jesuit novices. Along with him is Joe Appleyard. Eddie Iarrobino will be henceforth teeing off on the cloistered grounds of the Carmelite Monastery in Arkansas... Bob Winslow, former circulation manager of the Heights is enjoying the peace behind the cloistered walls of the Trappist Monastery at Spencer, Mass... We also hear that Joe Coffey has entered the religious life.

For other news, Frank Stapleton has secured a position with Elm Farm Foods... Frank Tanner, along with Mrs. Tanner is in mid-Massachusetts as a salesman for a clothing manufacturer... Dan Callanan spent the summer playing ball in Augusta, Me... Lts. McCusker, Hart, Reynolds, Mahoney and Pizzanno are enjoying the "Happy Hour" at the Fort Devens Officer's Club... Jack O'Laughlin of the CBA is completing his OCC with the Marines at Quantico... Charlie Morris, Jack Neenan and others are leaving this month for the same Marine school... Jack Toppa has accepted a position as teacher-coach in Athol, Mass... Gerry "Spike" Boyle is now in the real estate business with his Dad out in Woburn... Jack Fallon has received a fellowship in Chemistry to Tufts... Bob Greene and Leon Lewis will be back at the Heights on an English fellowship... Tom Vanderslice is seeking a higher degree in Chem. at Catholic U... Tom Casey at Georgetown Graduate school of Foreign Relations... Larry Maloney was tendered a small party at the "OG" before he left for the ASA... Bill McSweeney and others left in June for the ASA... Joe Byrne at Purdue Grad. School studying Chemistry... Larry McAuliffe spent the summer gardening at a cape Hotel and is now on active duty as Lt. USMCR...

Most of the news seems to be coming from cupid's corner and here are some of his victims... To begin with Frank Fleurant became a father of a daughter the same week he graduated... Bob Cento engaged to Caroline Everett... Bill Trainor engaged to Beverly Murphy... Martin Morgan and Barbara Thompson are planning the popular "big" step... Eddie DeLuca to be married this fall to Jeanne Colarusso... Shirley Wheaton and Paul Colgan married September 5... Bob Cochran and Janet are next to take marital vows... Others on the engaged list are Joe (Draft Bait) Fournier and Marilyn Balch of Cambridge... Dotty McGrail and Jack Haggerty teaming up... Lt. Bob Weal married the former Pat Murphy of Newton... Jack Reeves plans to wed Stacia Shalkoski... Mike Mikulics and Marilyn Miller have joined (sorta' a one platoon system)... Julio Pizzi and Rene Leone wed last June... Marie Barry married Charlie Butler... On Aug. 29 Jack McKenna and Gloria Sampson were married...

Editor's Note) We are happy to include the following letter in the 1953 classnotes.

To my fellow-classmates:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my heartfelt thanks to each of you who gave so generously to my wife and me to help alleviate our losses in the June tornado. I find it very difficult to express in mere words the gratitude we feel toward such a wonderful group of fellows. Your generosity was one of the bright spots of a very trying experience and it is wonderful to know that there are friends like you who are always ready to rally to the aid of one of your stricken members.

We are rebuilding the home that was destroyed and, in a matter of a few months, things should be back to normal. Our losses will be very slight due to generosity such as yours and that of many others.

At present, I am working in New York City with the W. R. Grace Co. I would like to hear personally from many of you.

Again, I wish to express my thanks.

Very sincerely,

EARTHQUAKES

Some of the studies were made 30 feet beneath the present Basilica, others were made in the Basilica itself along the marble floors, and still more were operated outside. Needless to say, such "carryings on" with our array of scientific equipment, wires, etc., excited no end of interest to both natives and tourists alike.

GEOPHYSIC AN APOSTOLIC WORK

For the priest members of field parties our work creates a new approach to our Apostolate. It is true that every priest in science is continually answering questions on the Church's attitude toward science. Geology however, seems to be the special field where most of the difficulties arise, not only for the Catholic but for the non-Catholic. This science seems, to the less informed, to be the battle ground where science and religion conflict. Much of our apologetic endeavours are spent showing the interested ones, that far from being opposed to one another, they are both depicting the same Cause of everything, God, and the more one studies geology and the physical side of it, the more is God's beauty enhanced. In field work, where one is wearing old clothes that are covered with dust, perspiration, hypo, where one's hands show the effect of honest toil, then that person is more easily approached by everyone, whether Catholic or not. During lunch hour by the side of the road theological difficulties are answered with candor, and received with an interest that cannot be attained in a Rectory parlour. The priest soon finds out that no matter who your fellow worker is, whether an Oklahoma Indian, a Virginia mountaineer, a Doctor of Science from some University, a woodsman from northern Maine, a laborer on the California highways or one of the Sampietrini from Vatican City, that each and everyone of them is the same, and each has the same private quest in life trying to find the peace that God can give, and that a priest can help him find.

So, as one may readily see, Geophysics embraces a lot of things, and the one engaged in it has plenty to do. Each year members of the Staff give hundreds of lectures to lay audiences explaining our work; we have published over a hundred articles on our research problems, not counting our regular Station Bulletins. At the same time the problems that lead to more research in this field keep multiplying. Our work has brought prestige to Boston College.
